Exemptions

Reference Number: CTAS-1525

“It is a fundamental rule that all property shall be taxed and bear its just share of the cost of government, and no property shall escape this common burden, unless it has been duly exempted by organic or statute law; and that one claiming such exemption has the burden of showing his right to it.”¹ Pursuant to Article II, Section 28 of the Tennessee Constitution, the legislature may exempt certain types of property from taxation.

In accordance with the following provisions, all property real, personal or mixed shall be subject to taxation, but the Legislature may except such as may be held by the State, by Counties, Cities or Towns, and used exclusively for public or corporation purposes, and such as may be held and used for purposes purely religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational, and shall except the direct product of the soil in the hands of the producer, and his immediate vendee, and the entire amount of money deposited in an individual's personal or family checking or savings accounts.²

Tennessee case law states that “this provision of our Constitution does not grant any tax exemption, does not establish any public policy of exemption, but merely authorizes, permits, the Legislature to grant exemption in the cases specified.”³ Exemptions not meeting the specific requirements set out in Article II, Section 28 are not constitutionally permissible.⁴

Property does not become exempt from taxation because it may be difficult to assess it at its actual worth.⁵ Moreover, exemptions in tax statutes are construed strictly against the taxpayer and in favor of the state; and, the burden is on the taxpayer to establish the exemption.⁶ “The presumption is against the exemption, and exemption from taxation will not be read into a taxing statute by implication.”⁷ However, once property has been exempted from taxation, it takes a showing of actual use for a nonexempt purpose to remove the exemption.⁸

The no-value presumption for non-business personal property has been upheld, based on the fact that the tax produces little revenue in relation to its administration costs, as well as the long-standing rule that the legislature may choose the method of valuation as well as whether the tax itself has any practical value. *Sherwood v. Real Property Transferred between Exempt and Nonexempt Persons

When exempt real property is conveyed or transferred by sale, lease or otherwise to a person, firm or corporation, rendering the property nonexempt by reason of the transfer, the nonexempt grantee, lessor or other nonexempt taxpayer will be liable for the property taxes on the property from the date of the transfer to the end of the taxable year. The state, county or municipal collector of taxes will collect the property taxes due from the date of the transfer, on a pro rata basis for the current taxable year, notwithstanding the status of the property as of the assessment date of January 1 of each year. A tax lien attaches on the date of the transfer as otherwise provided by law. The nonexempt grantee remains personally liable for taxes resulting from the transfer of the property regardless of any subsequent transfer that may occur during that tax year.¹

An owner of tax-exempt property who sells or leases the property must promptly notify the assessor of property if the sale or lease renders the property as nonexempt.² This requirement applies to governmental entity owners and lessors as well as any other owners or lessors of the property.³ The person or entity buying or leasing tax-exempt property must also promptly notify the assessor of property of the change in the use or ownership of such property. The buyer or lessee of the real property is personally liable for all taxes, and penalties and interest, from the date of the transfer to the date the assessor is notified of the change in the use or ownership of property, and the collection of taxes against the buyer or lessee with respect to the property will not be barred. However, no tax lien arises against real property conveyed to a bona fide purchaser who records the deed for the property or notifies the assessor of the change in the use or ownership of the property. The burden of proving a bona fide sale is upon the owner of the property at the time of the recording or notification.⁴

In the event the ownership of real property that has heretofore been subject to assessment and taxation is conveyed or transferred to a person, firm or corporation that is exempt from property assessment and taxation and the real property is used for purposes that would render the status of the property as exempt from assessment and taxation under §§ 67-5-203, 67-5-204, 67-5-207, 67-5-208, and 67-5-211 — 67-5-217, the new owner of the property shall not be liable for the real property taxes thereon, from the date of transfer and change of use from a nonexempt ownership and use to an exempt ownership and use to the end of the taxable year, notwithstanding the status of the property as of the assessment date of January 1 of that year. The assessor of property will make an assessment of the property on the basis of its value and use to which it is put following its transfer; provided, that for the year in which the transfer of property occurred, the assessment will be prorated and the owner shall be liable only for the taxes for the portion of the year that the property was subject to assessment. The state, county and municipal tax collector will collect taxes on the basis of the assessment as prorated by the assessor of property.⁵

The grantor or lessor of nonexempt property must notify the assessor of any change in the use or ownership of the property that may affect its nonexempt status. This notice is required when the property is conveyed or transferred by sale, lease or otherwise to a person, firm, or corporation. The grantor or lessor of nonexempt property includes any person, firm, or corporation who is not otherwise exempt from property taxes. The nonexempt grantor's or lessor's notice of the change in ownership or use to the assessor is a prerequisite to the grantor or lessor seeking a refund of taxes paid related to exempt ownership or use of the property occurring after the date of transfer to the tax exempt grantee or lessee by sale or lease.⁶

Trust Estates

Reference Number: CTAS-1527

Every trust estate is entitled to the same exemption as if owned by a single taxpayer.¹

¹T.C.A. § 67-5-202.

Government Property

Reference Number: CTAS-1528

All property of the United States, the state of Tennessee, any county, or any incorporated town, city or taxing district in the state that is used exclusively for public, county or municipal purposes is exempt from taxation. All property of an educational institution owned, operated or otherwise controlled by the state of Tennessee as trustee, or otherwise, is exempt from taxation. However, real property purchased for investment purposes by the Tennessee consolidated retirement system is subject to property taxation.¹

When the United States government, the state of Tennessee, or any agency or political subdivision thereof acquires property assessed as a single unit by the assessor of property of any political subdivision, any lien for property taxes assessed by the political subdivision for the year in which the property is acquired will be released on the approval of the assessor of property of the political subdivision assessing the taxes with respect to that portion of the taxes representing the remainder of the calendar year after the date of the instrument or conveyance by the property owner, or after the date of the entry of an order of possession if the property is acquired by condemnation. The property owner will be relieved of all personal liability for that portion of the taxes. Either the condemnor or the property owner may request the assessor to provide proration. Proration is based on the last assessment made and rate fixed and the trustee must accept tender of the amount determined to be owing.²

If real property owned by the state or any political subdivision of the state is leased to a person, corporation, or other business entity for the purpose of operating a golf course or for the purpose of developing and operating a golf course, the person, corporation, or business entity makes payments in lieu of ad valorem taxes. The payments will be in an amount equal to the ad valorem taxes otherwise due and payable by the taxpayer upon the current fair market value of the leased real property.³

Housing Authorities

Reference Number: CTAS-1531

The property of housing authorities is exempt from all taxes and special assessments of the state or any county, city, town, or metropolitan government. In lieu of such taxes or special assessments, a housing authority must agree to make payments to the county, city, town, or metropolitan government for services, improvements or facilities furnished by the county, city, town, or metropolitan government for the benefit of a housing project owned by the housing authority. In no event may these payments exceed the estimated cost to the county, city, town, or metropolitan government of the services, improvements or facilities furnished.¹

The bonds or notes issued by a housing authority, together with the interest thereon and the income therefrom, are exempt from all taxes.²

Low Cost Housing for Elderly Persons

Reference Number: CTAS-1532

Property of Tennessee nonprofit corporations which is used for the permanent housing of low income persons with disabilities, or low income elderly or handicapped persons, is exempt in accordance with T.C.A. § 67-5-207. The property must be financed by a grant under § 811 or § 211 of the National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. §§ 8013, 12741) or the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. § 11301 et seq.), or be financed or refinanced by a loan made, insured, or guaranteed by a branch, department or agency of the United States government under § 515(b) or § 521 of the Housing Act of 1949 (42 U.S.C. §§ 1485(b) or 1490a), § 202 of the Housing Act of 1959 (12 U.S.C. § 1701q), §§ 221, 223, 231 or 236 of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. §§ 1715l, 1715v, or 1715z-1), or § 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended by the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. § 1437f). For the purposes of this section, a loan is considered to be guaranteed if the federal housing agency has consented to assignment of a housing assistance program contract as security for the loan. Eligibility for the exemption under these programs continues so long as there is an unpaid balance on the loan. Following payment of the loan in full, a property shall continue to be exempt from taxation so long as the project is restricted to use for elderly persons or persons with disabilities as defined in the programs. In the case of a property financed by a grant, eligibility for the exemption under these programs continues so long as the project is restricted to use for elderly persons or persons with disabilities as defined in the programs. The property must be used as below-cost housing for elderly or handicapped persons or persons with disabilities within the program definitions, who have incomes not in excess of limits established for the enumerated program by the department of housing and urban development (HUD). If a property was approved by HUD for participation in the program without specific low income guidelines, the property may nevertheless qualify for exemption on a pro rata basis if at least 50 percent of the residents (low income residents) have incomes which would qualify under HUD guidelines for any of the enumerated programs. In such cases the property shall be exempt in the same percentage which low income residents represent of the total occupancy of the property at full capacity, determined as of January 1 each year, on the basis of information supplied to the assessor on or before April 20.¹

Also exempted under T.C.A. § 67-5-207 is the property of not-for-profit organizations funded under the HOME Investment Partnerships Program (42 U.S.C. § 12701 et seq.) or the state-funded Housing Opportunities Using State Encouragement (HOUSE) Program, and used as permanent housing for low income and very low income elderly, disabled or handicapped persons.²To qualify for an exemption, a not-for-profit corporation must first be exempt from federal income taxation by virtue of qualifying as an exempt charitable organization or as an exempt social welfare organization under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.³Additional requirements are set forth in T.C.A. § 67-5-207(b)(1) - (5). Furthermore, all claims for exemption under T.C.A. § 67-5-207 are subject to the provisions of T.C.A. § 67-5-212(b) regarding exemptions for charitable institutions.⁴

Certain facilities permitted by federal statute in such housing projects are not exempt from property taxation. For example, under Department of Housing and Urban Development regulations, these housing projects may contain such facilities such as snack bars, craft shops, grocery stores, restaurants, and beauty shops, which are not considered charitable and therefore not exempt from taxation.⁵

In lieu of any taxes for which a property is granted exemption under T.C.A. § 67-5-207, the owners of projects which exceed 12 units must agree to make payments to any county, municipality, metropolitan government, or district for improvements, facilities or services rendered by the county, municipality, metropolitan government or district, but if no amount is agreed the payments shall be not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the amount of tax that would be due if the project were not exempt. In no event may such payments be required from public housing authorities operating under Tennessee Code Annotated Title 13, Chapter 20.⁶

Property Used to Recycle Waste Products

Reference Number: CTAS-1533

Property owned by a non-profit corporation whose purpose is to convert waste products for heating or cooling public buildings or facilities is exempt from taxation if the reversionary interest is in the governmental entity. Some by-products of this recycling process can be furnished to private entities without changing the tax-exempt status.¹

¹T.C.A. § 67-5-208.

Private Act Hospital Authorities

Reference Number: CTAS-1534

In addition to all the rights and powers granted to a private act hospital authority under the provisions of T.C.A. § 7-57-601 et seq., beginning with the 2001 tax year, and thereafter, a private act hospital authority will be exempt from the payment of any taxes or fees to the state or any subdivisions thereof, or to any officer or employee of the state or any subdivision thereof, except as provided in T.C.A. § 67-5-209. This exemption does not include fees paid by private act hospital authorities as required by T.C.A. § 68-11-216. The property of an authority is exempt from all county and municipal taxes; however, the authority must pay all county and municipal fees. An authority may agree to the payment of tax equivalents to the creating or participating governing authority or entity. Authorities shall be required to apply to the state board of equalization for claims for exemption of property residing outside the boundaries of their creating or participating governing authorities or entities. Exemptions will be (1) limited to property of the authority which would be exempt if owned and operated by a charitable hospital under T.C.A. § 67-5-212; and (2) granted in accordance with the same criteria used by the board of equalization in granting exemptions to property owned and operated by a charitable hospital under T.C.A. § 67-5-212.¹

Charter or Contract Exemptions

Reference Number: CTAS-1535

All property protected by a valid charter or contract exemption is exempt from taxation.¹

¹T.C.A. § 67-5-211.

Religious, Charitable, Scientific, Educational Institutions

Reference Number: CTAS-1536

There shall be exempt from property taxation the real and personal property, or any part of the real and personal property, owned by any religious, charitable, scientific or nonprofit educational institution that is occupied and actually used by the institution or its officers purely and exclusively for carrying out one or more of the exempt purposes for which the institution was created or exists. There shall further be exempt from property taxation the property, or any part of the property, owned by an exempt institution that is occupied and actually used by another exempt institution for one or more of the exempt purposes for which it was created or exists under an arrangement in which the owning institution receives no more rent than a reasonably allocated share of the cost of use, excluding the cost of capital improvements, debt service, depreciation and interest, as determined by the board of equalization or which is solely between exempt institutions that originated as part of a single exempt institution and that continue to use the property for the same religious, charitable, scientific, or nonprofit educational purposes, whether by charter, contract, or other agreement or arrangement.¹

"The tax exemption statutes in Tennessee are construed liberally in favor of religious, charitable and educational institutions.²The basis for a liberal construction is a 'benefit conferred on the public by such institutions, and a consequent relief, to some extent, of the burden upon the state to care for and advance the interests of its citizens.'"³However, the mere "fact that an organization is chartered for the general welfare, or not for profit, is not sufficient to entitle its property to tax exempt status."⁴In order to be tax exempt, the property must be used "purely and exclusively" for one or more of the purposes for which the institution seeking a tax exemption was created. In a series of cases, the Tennessee Supreme Court has held "that the use requirement for property to be tax exempt is met where the use is 'directly incidental to or an integral part of' one of the recognized purposes of an exempt institution."⁵Pursuant to the application of the use requirement, employee parking lots owned by non-profit hospitals, employee lunch rooms owned by non-profit corporations, and off-campus housing facilities owned by non-profit educational institutions have been found to be exempt from property taxation.⁶However, property that is owned by a charitable institution but not used for any purpose but held for future development does not qualify as tax exempt property.⁷

The property of the institution will not be exempt from taxation if the owner, or any stockholder, officer, member or employee of the institution receives or may be lawfully entitled to receive any pecuniary profit from the operations of the property in competition with like property owned by others that is not exempt, except reasonable compensation for services in effecting one or more of such purposes, or as proper beneficiaries of its strictly religious, charitable, scientific or educational purposes.⁸The property of the institution will not be exempt if the organization of the institution for any avowed purpose is merely a guise or pretense for directly or indirectly making a pecuniary profit for the institution, or for any of its members or employees, or if it is not in good faith organized or conducted exclusively for one or more of the avowed purposes.⁹If the real property of an institution is not used exclusively for carrying out one or more of the stated purposes, but is leased or otherwise used for other purposes, it will not be exempt regardless of whether the income received is used for one or more of the avowed purposes. If a portion of any lot or building of an institution is used purely and exclusively for carrying out one or more of the stated purposes of the institution, then that lot or building will be exempt only to the extent of the value of the portion so used, and the remaining or other portion will be subject to taxation.¹⁰

No church will be granted an exemption on more than one parsonage, which may include up to three acres of land.¹¹

Land not necessary to support exempt structures or site improvements associated with exempt structures, including land used for recreation, retreats or sanctuaries, is not eligible for exemption beyond a maximum of 100 acres per county for each religious, charitable, scientific or nonprofit educational institution qualified for exemption pursuant to T.C.A. § 67-5-212. For purposes of applying this limit, land owned by an exempt institution is aggregated with land owned by related exempt institutions having common ownership or control. Qualifying land in excess of the limit must be classified as forest land upon application submitted pursuant to T.C.A. § 67-5-1006, or as open space land upon application submitted pursuant to T.C.A. § 67-5-1007, and the effective date of the classification will be the date the property might otherwise have qualified for exemption.¹²

Application for Exemption

Reference Number: CTAS-1537

Any owner of real or personal property claiming exemption under T.C.A. § 67-5-212 or T.C.A. § 67-5-207, § 67-5-213 or § 67-5-219 must file an application for the exemption with the State Board of Equalization on a form prescribed by the board, and supply any further information as the board may require to determine whether the property qualifies for exemption. No property will be exempted from property taxes under these sections, unless the application has been approved in writing by the board. A separate application is required for each parcel of property for which an exemption is claimed. An application is deemed filed on the date it is received by the board or, if mailed, on the postmark date. The applicant must provide a copy of the application with any supporting materials to the assessor of property of the county in which the property is located. An application for exemption pursuant to T.C.A. § 67-5-212 or any other section referring to these procedures is treated as an appeal for purposes of T.C.A. § 67-5-1512.¹

The board makes an initial determination granting or denying an exemption through its staff designee, who sends written notice of the initial determination to the applicant and the assessor of property. Either the assessor of property or the applicant may appeal the initial determination to the board and is entitled to a hearing prior to any final determination of exemption. The assessor maintains on file copies of all approved applications. After an exemption has been approved, it is not necessary to reapply each year, but the exemption is not transferable or assignable and the applicant is required to promptly report to the assessor any change in the use or ownership of the property which might affect its exempt status.²

The board may by rule impose a fee for processing exemption applications. The fee cannot exceed $120 and must be proportionate to the value of the property at issue. The total fees collected in any fiscal year cannot exceed the cost of processing exemption applications in that fiscal year.³

If the application is approved, the exemption will be effective as of January 1 of the year of application or as of the date the exempt use of such parcel began, whichever is later. If application is made after May 20 of the year for which the exemption is sought, but prior to the end of the year, the application may be approved but will be effective for only a portion of the year determined as follows: (1) if the application is filed within 30 days after the exempt use of the property began, the exemption will be effective as of the date the exempt use began or May 20, whichever is later; or (2) if the application is filed more than 30 days after the exempt use began, the exemption will be effective as of the date of application.¹

If a religious institution acquires property that was duly exempt at the time of transfer from a transferor who had previously been approved for a religious use exemption of the property, or if a religious institution acquires property to replace its own exempt property, then the effective date of exemption shall be 3 years prior to the date of application, or the date the acquiring institution began to use the property for religious purposes, whichever is later.²

The State Board of Equalization may revoke any exemption approved under T.C.A. § 67-5-212 if it determines that the exemption was approved on the basis of fraud, misrepresentation or erroneous information, or that the current owner or use of the property does not qualify for exemption. The Executive Secretary of the board may initiate proceedings for revocation on the Executive Secretary's own motion or upon the written complaint of any person upon a determination of probable cause. Revocation will not be retroactive unless the order of revocation incorporates a finding of fraud or misrepresentation on the part of the applicant or failure of the applicant to give notice of a change in the use or ownership of the property as required by T.C.A. § 67-5-212.¹

specified by a historic properties review board, as provided for in T.C.A. § 67-5-218, and to refrain from significantly altering or demolishing the structure during the period of exemption.¹

The provisions of T.C.A. § 67-5-218 only apply to counties having a population of 200,000 or more according to the 1970 federal census, or any subsequent federal census; and, which, by a majority vote of the governing body of the county, choose to come under its provisions.² The chief administrative officer of each county appoints a historic properties review board for that jurisdiction, to be approved by a majority vote of the county governing body. The review board consists of at least five members. One member of the review board must be an architect, if resident in the county, who is a member of the American Institute of Architects or meets the membership qualifications of that body. One member of the review board must be a member of the local planning commission. Any structure 175 years of age or older is presumed to meet the criteria on the basis of age alone, any structure 125 years of age or older is presumed to meet the criteria unless established otherwise, and any structure 75 years of age or older is assumed to meet the criteria subject to individual review.⁴ Exemptions continue in effect for 10 years in the case of a partial or exterior restoration or improvement, as determined by the review board, and 15 years in the case of a total restoration, as determined by the review board. At the end of the applicable period, the structure is assessed and taxed on the basis of its full market value. If any structure receiving an exemption under T.C.A. § 67-5-218 is demolished or significantly altered, as determined by the review board, during the period of exemption, the exemption of the improved value will immediately end and the owner will be liable at that time for any difference between the tax paid and the tax which would have been due on the improved value. The exemptions and restrictions provided for in T.C.A. § 67-5-218 apply to the structure itself and pass with its title.⁵

Leased Tangible Personal Property

Reference Number: CTAS-1557

Inventories of merchandise held by merchants and businesses for sale and exchange by persons taxable under the business tax (Tennessee Code Annotated, Title 67, Chapter 4, Part 7) are exempt from property taxation. This exemption includes tangible personal property held for lease or rental, but does not include such property in the possession of a lessee. Leased personal property in the possession of the lessee is subject to property taxation and is classified and assessed according to the lessee's use.¹

¹T.C.A. § 67-5-901. See also Op. Tenn. Atty. Gen. 89-89 (May 30, 1989) (finding that the statute excepting categories of leased personal property from the property tax exemption for leased property is constitutional); Op. Tenn. Atty. Gen. 91-94 (November 27, 1991) (finding that the ultimate user of the tangible personal property in a business or profession is liable for the property tax, whether the user is a lessee or sublessee, and the owner, lessee, or sublessee from whom the ultimate user, lessee or sublessee obtained the property is not liable for the property tax assessment).
